What is BABOK requirements specification

You already have BABOK knowledge but want to gain practical experience with the (requirements) knowledge areas of BABOK.

How do you write / specify requirements and how do you structure them? What do you need to write / specify requirements? Consider the results of the strategy analysis. How do you clarify your requirements with models?

You learn how you can apply BABOK activities that are related to requirements in a practical way. You gain insight into the requirements process, the BABOK requirements structure and you learn to write / specify requirements. You learn which models from BABOK you can use when and to complement requirements. The quality of requirements (sets), prioritizing, dealing with changes and tracing are also discussed. In addition, there is room to enter your own case, examples and issues and thus get answers to your specific questions. This training is based on the most recent version of BABOK, version 3.
