What is Certified Information System Security Professional

A good approach to cyber security, with appropriate actions against threats to our information systems, requires insight; insight into the business interests we have to protect and into the areas where the greatest threats can come from. Cybersecurity must, above all, provide solutions that are not blocking innovation, efficiency and ease of use. A security specialist must therefore be broadly trained to be an up to par partner when it comes to information security.

The internationally recognized certificate Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP) is the most important certification in the field of information at this moment. The CISSP training gives you a good foundation of knowledge that you can use in daily practice and that helps you to prepare for the exam to become a CISSP.

During the training, the 8 domains of the CISSP Common Body of Knowledge (CBK) are covered:

- Security and Risk Management
- Asset Security
- Security Engineering
- Communications and Network Security
- Identity and Access Management
- Security Assessment and Testing
- Security Operations
- Software Development Security

The exam is not included in the training.
