What is Managing Successful Programmes Executive Briefing

Changes within organizations are increasing. Only managing projects is not enough. To achieve the strategic objectives of the organization must be in control of change. If we are talking about balancing the use of scarce resources between 'Run the Business' and "Change the Business". Then we are talking about program management.

Managing Successful Programmes (MSP®) helps to break up complex change into manageable projects and other activities. With MSP you can define a vision for your program, give form to your program and manage it. All this is supported by a set of principles, processes and themes that have been developed based on years of experience in program management.

MSP comes from Axelos and is fully compatible with other methodologies and frameworks such as PRINCE2®.

Who should attend Managing Successful Programmes Executive Briefing

The training Managing Successful Programmes Executive Briefing is aimed primarily at (senior) management.

In this executive briefing you'll be introduced to the MSP methodology for the management of Programmes at a high level. This allows you to get sufficient insight in the necessity, concepts of the methodology without spending too much time on too much details. The briefing will introduce basic principles, various components as well as questions regarding governance, implementation and maturity assessment.

Objectives

After this briefing you will have a high level insight into the MSP methodology.
