What is Jira in Practice

Jira, a product of Atlassian, is an online development tool for Agile teams that helps you identify issues and divide work in a clear way. With this practical training, we will guide you through the technical details on how to create your own fully customized Project. This will be followed by several practical cases where you will set up your own boards to follow your work and create reports and dashboards. Jira has different types of users, each with their own needs. To accommodate these different learning goals, we dedicate time to your specific role-based challenges.

Who should attend Jira in Practice

- Product Owners: Gain insights into backlog management and sprint planning.
- Epic Owners: Learn how to implement a roadmap using Plans.
- Scrum Masters: Gain tools to coach Agile teams with effective Jira usage.
- Release Train Engineers: Learn how to leverage Jira for your entire Value Stream.
- Business Analysts: Learn how to create detailed reports and dashboards.
- Team Leads: Learn how to monitor team performance and project status.
- Agile Project Managers: Learn to manage and track project progress efficiently.
- Users: Understand the concepts behind Jira to improve your day-to-day activities.
- Administrators: Learn how Jira can be customized to fit the business requirements.
