What is BABOK® requirements specification

You already have knowledge of BABOK but you want to have practical experience with the (requirements) knowledge areas of BABOK.

How do you write/specify your requirements and how do you structure them? What do you need to write requirements/specifications? Consider here the results of the strategy analysis. How do you clarify your requirements with models?

You learn how to practically apply activities from BABOK that deal with requirements. You will gain insight into the requirements process, the BABOK requirements structure and learn how to write and specify requirements. You will learn which BABOK models you can use to complement requirements. Also the quality requirements (sets), priorities, dealing with changes and tracing are covered. There is also scope to bring in your own case, examples and issues, and therefore to get answers to your specific questions. This training is based on the most recent version, version 3 of BABOK.
