What is Storytelling

Storytelling is more than just a buzzword. It's a powerful tool that can motivate and unite people around a common goal. Our brains are wired to seek out narratives in the information we consume, and visual stories leave a stronger impression than words alone. The most engaging storytellers attract the largest audiences. In this training, you'll learn the art of storytelling, its benefits, and its key elements. You'll also get hands-on experience by creating your own story and sharing it with the group.
