What is GenAI for Data Professionals

In the rapidly evolving landscape of Data Engineering, Data Analysis, and Data Science, the integration of cutting-edge technologies is paramount. Enter GenAI for Data Professionals, a training designed for and by Data Engineers, Data Analysts, and Data Scientists eager to harness the full potential of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in their roles.

In this training, we will introduce GenAI and the current toolset available in the market. We will touch on subjects such as risks, privacy, and ethical AI usage.

We will dive in depth into GitHub Copilot, a GenAI programming assistant. We will teach you how it works, and when to use it.

You will participate in hands-on exercises using Copilot. This interactive session aims to provide a first-hand experience of leveraging GenAI tools in a real-world context.

During the training, the application of what you learn is central and you are challenged to work with the theory in practical cases.

The training is given by AI experts with practical experience integrating GenAI solutions into their daily activities. Their extensive knowledge allows them to give professional application examples and how to navigate around common pitfalls.

Who should attend GenAI for Data Professionals

This training is intended for:

- Data Professionals (e.g., Data Engineers, Data Analysts, Data Scientists)
- Business and information analysts in data-driven organizations
- Python developers

Prerequisites

Basic knowledge of Python is required.

Objectives

By the end of the training, participants will gain insights into the capabilities of GenAI, particularly in the context of data-related tasks. The hands-on assignments will reinforce theoretical concepts, enabling participants to apply GenAI tools effectively in their professional roles.
